OUR PLANETARY SYSTEM.

Seen From the Nearest Fixed Star It Would Be a Tiny Speck.

It is only when we regard our globe as a member of the planetary system, that we can truly appreciate its place among the systems that we realize how infinitesimal are its concerns and how minute its importance is.

Very many fixed stars are now known to orbit around Neptune as the circumference of our planetary system and state the diameter or it therefore is about 84,000 miles.

But if we could suppose all this vast space converted into a solid disk instead of being, as we know, the sum of many smaller and, in fact, more were then given by some means or other a mighty immensity of surface, it would appear to be considerably greater than the greatest fixed star and even greater than a new twenty-five cent piece tilted vertically in the distance would appear to an observer at a distance of something over a hundred yards.

Why may safely say, then, for those who consider themselves with the safety of the sun, that the annual thermal loss of our own little sphere, though sufficient to melt 777 cubic miles of iron, will, even though multiplied by a hundred thousand, hardly affect the temperature of space since the striking of a match would not moderate the climate of Siberia.—Harper's Weekly.

THE HUMAN SKULL.

Many a Fracture is Avorted by Its Great Elasticity.

Fortunately the human skull, although it is a brittle substance, is much more so than most would think. The average male adult skull, in fact, says the Scientific American, is so elastic that it may be compressed in diameter to one-half of its area at right angles to the surface of the skull, by one end a half-centimeter or less, without any appreciable change in its original diameter and form without breaking.

The elasticity of which our bone is made is also highly resistant that a cylindrical piece thereof only one square millimeter or 0.00125 square inch in area (i.e., only 1.125 square centimeters) can be bent to a tensile strength of fifteen kilograms or thirty-three pounds avoirdupois, figuring on at about 21,000 pounds per square inch.

A similar sample of hard wood, tested in the same manner, need only ten kilograms to bend it, being only 1.125 per cent more tensile strength than wood.

A single horse fiber is shown in the hygiene exhibition, Dresden, supporting a weight of five kilograms, or even ten pounds avoirdupois.

Tears Young Naval Officers Use In Fighting Feminine Disease.

The younger officers in the navy, and the gallant young midshipmen especially, have a number of their own for relaxation, but none like the battle of the peels is the best part of a baked Murphy," said the proprietor of the best and largest Murphy house in downtown. "But I'm one of the few, and every potato before it goes into the oven is scrubbed with a brush, and the skins remain. Besides, we have none like the big, smooth potatoes. I sell more butter, bacon, and eggs, and rents in town, and a couple of my patrons have learned to eat 'em skin and all. Not a few have learned, too, that a baked Murphy is a good meal, and salt has a due flavor, a more truly potato flavor, than can be got with butter and paprika and the other foolish things that turn out to spoil the best of vegetables."—New York Sun.

Had Had No "Help."
"Aunt Hattie," as everybody called her, was the oldest person in a small town, and she had originally thought to be at least ninety years old, but despite her advanced age she was still plump and well, and had a full set of perfect teeth. One day, moved by that feeling of curiosity that some people have about anything that is abnormal or unusual, a friend of Aunt Hattie's mistress called upon the old lady in her kitchen.

"What is the secret of your great age and such perfect health, Aunt Hattie?" asked one of them.

"Honcy," said the old woman, with just the slightest twinkle in her eye, "that's because I never had no trouble with alied gits!"—New York Press.

Jubilee Wishes.

Two small Sunday school girls were disputing as to the distance from Alberta to Japan.

"It can't be far," said one. "You know we're carried from Jericho to Jerusalem in a day."

"Yes, I know," replied the other, "but perhaps they've salt fish."—Chicago News.

A Kindred Feeling.

"Of course we have to use our star men sometimes," explained the food-hall entrepreneur, "but we're not fed for fear we'll lose one of them."

"I know just how it is," responded the young girl. "I feel that way about my best teacher."—Washington Herald.

His Exact Location.
"Womble was at the open last night."

"As you saw him drinking in the mucky?"

"No; when I saw him he was drinking in the bar."—Seattle Post-Intelligencer.

THE ENGLISHMAN'S BATH.

Not So Very Long Ago It Was an Un-American Institution.

We boast ourselves a cleanly people and are not ashamed to forego with the daily bath, yet, the British Medical Journal points out, it is not so long ago since we had the reputation of being dirty and unclean. In 1800, for instance, in 1800 there was not a single private house in London provided with a bath.

A witness stated before the health commission about the middle of the last century that the public bath, the sweating classes was washed, all was over immediately after birth and after death.

Even at that time our country could be found anywhere in the world than among our lower classes. "A Frenchman would be shocked to hear of the class in which the British laborer goes to his daily work," who applies at workhouses in a more brutal training than the enforced bath.

In the middle ages, we are reminded, there was no such thing as a public汗浴場 (public bath), and the sweat of sweat of foreign visitors for centuries ago what most struck a Portuguese traveler in England was the fact that the English poverty never the English poverty never affected the temperature of sweat than the striking of a match would wail to moderate the climate of Siberia.—Harper's Weekly.

MR. ARTHUR SCOTT BURDEN.

Mr. Arthur Scott Burden, president of the Canadian expeditionary force, is in the city inspecting the troops of the second contingent. Colonel Denison said, he expected the second overseas force would leave for England any day now. The men of the second contingent he considered very much superior to the rank and file of the first expeditionary force.

Second Better Than First

Col. Septimus Denison, commander of the 4th infantry brigade of the Canadian expeditionary force, is in the city inspecting the troops of the second contingent. Colonel Denison said, he expected the second overseas force would leave for England any day now. The men of the second contingent he considered very much superior to the rank and file of the first expeditionary force.

Belgian Relief More Active

The committee of the Claremont patriotic and Relief Society have decided upon more effort for the Belgian Relief department of its activities.

To this end a special committee was chosen at its last meeting with the intent to further this feature of the Fund.

Those appointed to this committee were Messrs. Watt and Duncan and Miss Haslam.

As the latter was unable to act on this committee, Mrs. Francis Chamberlain was added to the committee and some vigorous plans for the swelling of the fund for Belgian relief may be expected.

Well Thought Of in Calgary

Repairing the Ships at Sea

British Navy Has Floating Shipbuilding Plant

Every British warship carries a large complement of engineers, mechanics, as well as a completely fitted forge and machine shop.

The British have a system of driving machinery, a lathehouse has an electric lighting system sufficient for a thousand men, and there are wonderful hydraulic engines for moving her propellers, and a system for lifting her great launchers and steam picked boats; her armament is all mounted on deck, and also elaborate apparatus for distilling sea water.

Her guns will go wrong at any moment, but, unless the broadside is very severe, she can get along without a hit. Her artificers and electricians.

Her electrical damage is temporarily patched up so that the vessel remains seaworthy.

At the present time the Good Hope hopped on the rocks in Plymouth Sound, and was rolling on her beam ends, while her iron plates and ribs were driven in a few inches in places, and the sea spattered over her.

Yet her own people tackled the damage, and by the time the battle was over, she had been repaired and temporary patches were able to continue and go through her mission of destruction.

The Warlike, one of the Australian cruisers, was captured by the Germans during battle practice she got hit by a torpedo from the Royal Arthur. The crew were all killed except, of course, but all the same, it knocked an ugly hole in her starboard quarter, and she sank like a stone, but was pleasant. Yet she managed to ram the German ship, and then Jerry took to Sydney under her own steam.

The purpose of helping out ships when the damage is beyond the powers of their own crew, the Admiralty, and the assistance of the Vulcan.

The Vulcan is known as a torporate cruiser, and is in some ways the most powerful ship in the world.

A good sized craft of about seven thousand tons, and can steam eighteen knots.

Without reasoning.

The two others you notice about the Vulcan are the two enormous cranes, or derricks, which rise amazingly, and are so powerful that they can lift a seventy ton vessel out of the water in less than a few seconds.

These derricks are fastened to the ship, so that when she is at anchor, or when she is in port, she is absolutely silent.

The Vulcan carries big launchers, which can be used for sweeping for mines, while down below she carries torpedoes, as well as vast stores of munitions.

The Cyclops, which is never seen, the Vulcan, is a converted liner, of course.

The latter, punching and driving machines are on the upper deck.

Below deck there is a large plate furnace, and a steam hammer, which are the most powerful in a regular foundry, and can make heavy castings.

This is quite unique, and is similarly fitted.

On the lower deck there is a gunsmith's shop, a blacksmith's shop, and a perfect carpenter's shop. There are also gunners' shops, which are used for sweeping for mines, while down below she carries torpedoes, as well as vast stores of munitions.

The Vulcan is a real floating drydock, and her crew of highly trained mechanics, who are the best in the world, if necessary—build her.

Boffit's Luck

His Watch Was Not Greatly Damaged, But a Little Jar Stopped It

As Hibernian Boffit crossed his hands over his eyes, he was the anchor of the rising sun, but swinging his arms, he was the anchor of his gold watch and here it shone, dashed by its chain and banging against the floor.

Finally, as the bellows was passing over him, he took a hard knock on the head, for his watch had been dashed and was falling. Curse!

It fell on the floor, and Boffit could hear the sound of the bellows which hit the hard cement of the floor.

Intendant, Boffit, not taking time to wait for the elevator, rushed up to the stairs, and his watch clinked and clinked, but it is Harry Boffit inadvertently, who had dropped it, and it fell off the edge of the platform, and hit the pavement, 240 feet below.

"Darn!" swore Harry Boffit and ran down the stairs, and came running under cover to command the spot where it is intended to lurch the grapple, and he said, "I'm sorry, but I'm afraid I'll break it up, and put it in the trash can." "Just my luck!" he exclaimed, tearing a stopped—London Times.

Germany Must Pay

A Day of Reckoning is Coming When the Despotism Will be Judged by the Nations.

The Germans have stamped upon the countryside and left it desolate, and still Englishmen left who can call righteous indignation at those ruthless invaders. We prefer the spirit of the poor French people, who, like the Vikings, Titian, Paix, Vergne, Remond and Rubens were carefully packed and at the invaders, and declaring that they would, if necessary, be put on ship-board and taken from the country.

We write from agony such as the dead, and we trust may never again be experienced.

So they took her down, and the world shall never be lightly inflicted upon the world again, the last of the world.

They compelled to pay the price of all property. They dread invasion.

Condemn all the evil for which a German has done.

Temperance Workers Meet in Convention

The convention of temperance workers of the Claresholm constituency, which was held in the Methodist Church, Claresholm, on Friday of last week, was one of the best attended that has been held in this district. There was a spirit of enthusiasm which augurs for success when the voting day arrives and the plans which were laid and the organization effected will be important factors in bringing the desired results. The presence of Dr. J. G. Shearer was an inspiration to the convention. Jas. McKinney, the president of the local branch of the Alberta Temperance and Moral Reformation League, called the meeting to order and Dr. Shearer gave a clear and forcible statement of the fact which will be voted upon in the plebiscite of July 21st. Upon the suggestion of Mayor Holmes, which was adopted by vote, Messrs. John Stevenson, A. N. Brown, Rev. McInnes (Graman), J. W. Hallett, S. T. Marshall and Mayor Holmes were appointed as a nominating committee to select representatives to the executive committee from each polling sub-division.

The election of officers and the executive committee was as follows: Hon. Pres., Wm. Moffat, M. L. A.; President, Jas. McKinney; Vice-Presidents, Messrs. Jas. McGinnis, Jas. Lennox, J. F. Devereux, S. T. Marshall, Rev. M. Hillerud; Sec-Treas., E. G. Barber. The above officers together with the following representatives from the various polling subdivisions will form the executive committee: George Bell, Meadow Creek; E. T. Torgerson, Alberta Red; T. P. Mosley, Five-Mile; Frank Matheson, Jumbo Flat; P. S. Clarke, Graman; Wm. J. Williams, Woodhouse; J. M. Soly, Claresholm East; Wm. Knight, Claresholm West; Jas. McInnes, Fairview; G. Sage, Claremont; G. P. J. Petersen, Northern Light; Darsch, Daly Creek; A. N. Brown, Trout Creek; W. L. Anderson, Star Line; Olsen Creek, Spring Point, Round Up; 41 Ranch, Livingstone, Happy Valley representatives to be appointed later. The names of the following ladies were added to the committee: Madames McKinney, A. N. Brown, F. R. Slipp, R. A. Richards, (Graman), J. Brown, J. W. Ferrier.

During the afternoon the convention went into the matter of finance and satisfactory plans were laid for this important part of the campaign work. The campaign committee will consist of the following gentlemen: Jas. McKinney, E. G. Barber, N. Holmes, Rev. J. M. Harrison, Rev. Wm. McNichol, Rev. J. McInnes (Graman), Rev. M. Hillerud, J. W. Hallett, S. L. Fraser; Jas. Blair and Dr. D. S. McMillan (Graman), and the work of this committee shall be to arrange for meetings and for the distribution of literature. This committee will meet at the Presbyterian Church in the evening at 7 o'clock and arranged for meetings at several of this schoolhouse, details of which program will be given later.

The evening meeting was presided over by Rev. McNichol and the address of the Rev. Dr. J. G. Shearer, of Toronto, was listened to by one of the largest audiences which have assembled in this town at a temperance meeting. The subject of the address was "The Battle with the Bottle and the War for the Boy." The speaker dealt with the three chief arguments for the continuance of the liquor system and showed that the basis of all arguments for the traffic is founded in man's greed. The personal liberty argument, the revenue argument, the blow to business argument were shown by the speaker to be broken reeds for the traffic in these enlightened days to play their dependence upon. He cited instances to show that towns have prospered rather than decayed when the liquor anomaly was removed, that revenues would be more adequate by the reduction in other heavy expenses which would be largely reduced when the cause of these were removed and that this would compensate for the reduction of licence fees. Many other striking points were made by the speaker which will be heard in detail as the campaign progresses. It is the business of every man who is opposed to the traffic to study these fallacious arguments in order that he may be prepared to meet them with sound, common-sense answers in the personal work which every opponent of the liquor business must do if the campaign is to be won.

Prominent Farmer Selling

The preliminary announcement is made in this issue of the sale of farm estates, horses, cattle, etc., at the farm of G. B. Wilhite, immediately adjoining the town on the south-east. The farm buildings and the general air of neatness of the premises, together with the splendid stock which Mr. Wilhite has on his farm, has made his property an advertisement of the district to those who pass on the road. It is very much to be regretted that continued ill-health has compelled him to give up his disposal of his stock and machinery and to leave this town. He will still hold his interest in the property with a view to returning if he is successful in his search for health. The cows which he will offer are of the Jersey strain and are fine animals. His horses are in good condition and are of a type desired for general farm work. His harness is in good condition and the farm implements are in splendid shape, having been carefully housed from the weather. In all this sale will be one of the best that has been held in this neighborhood and should be attended by any desirous of securing good bargains. The date has been set for the 4th of March, two weeks from Thursday. The sale commences at 10 o'clock. The premises are about a half-mile from the post-office.
